Arctic Orienteering Club

meet director- Jeffrey Bannish

Course Description:

The race was set in the Chugach front range mountains beginning and ending near the Glenn Alps parking lot. Twenty-two controls were distributed over an area of 30 square miles with a cumulative elevation change over 10,000 feet. Each control location was awarded a point value based on difficulty.

Racers chose to compete as individuals or in teams with time limits of 6 or 10 hours. Racers also selected their own routes. Overall 10 hour winner, Kimball Forrest, visited 19 of the controls over a 27 mile route with 8,500 feet of elevation change and earned 820 points.
